

How ice-cream got its cone

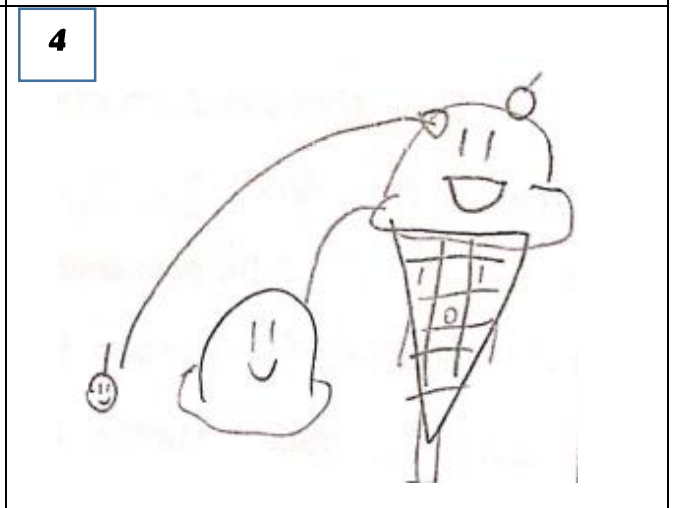

Once there was an ice cream who did not have a cone.

One day, the ice-cream was sad because it was melting. And someone wanted to eat it.

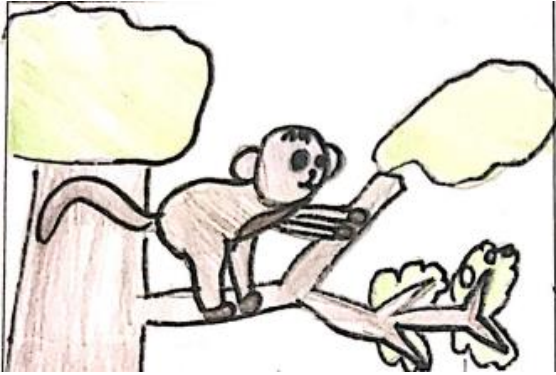

The other food laughed at it. It is really upset. And it had no friends at all.

A cone saw it. The cone wanted to play with it. Finally, they became friends. That is how ice-cream got its cone.

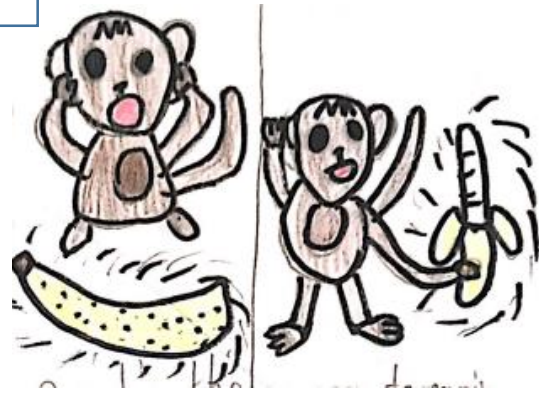

How Emperor Tamarin got its moustache

1

Emperor Tamarin was just a normal monkey with big eyes and a cute smile.

2

One day, the Emperor Tamarin found a long hairy banana that was white. He took it home and ate it.

3

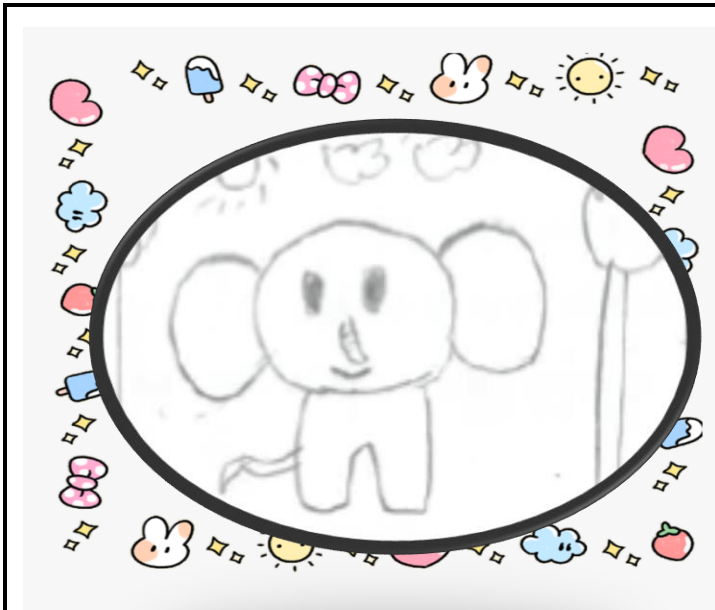

The next day, the Emperor Tamarin grew a moustache that was white. The Emperor Tamarin had kids and the kids had more kids. They all grew moustaches!

4

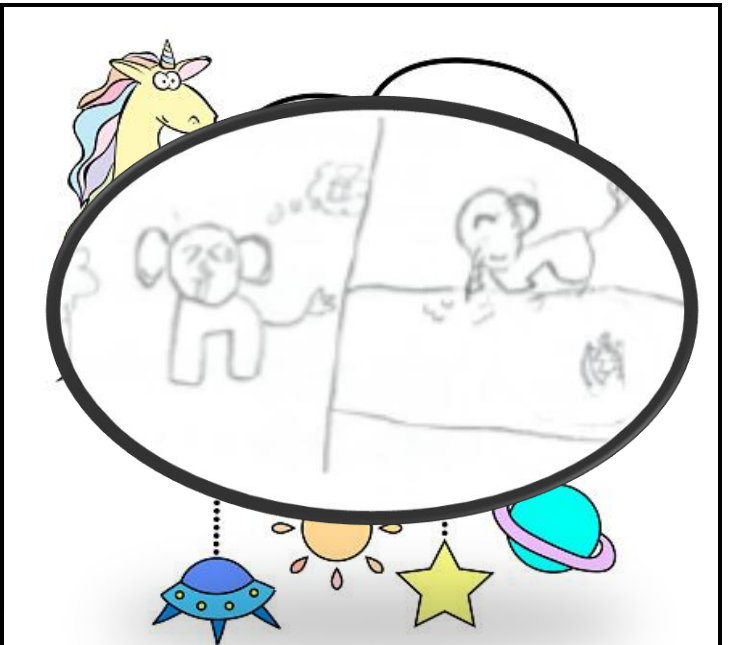

And that's how Emperor Tamarins got their moustaches.

How elephant got its long nose

Once upon a time, an elephant had a short nose. The elephant was very confident because he liked his nose.

One day the elephant was thirsty. He found a river so he drank water at once. There was a crocodile in the river.

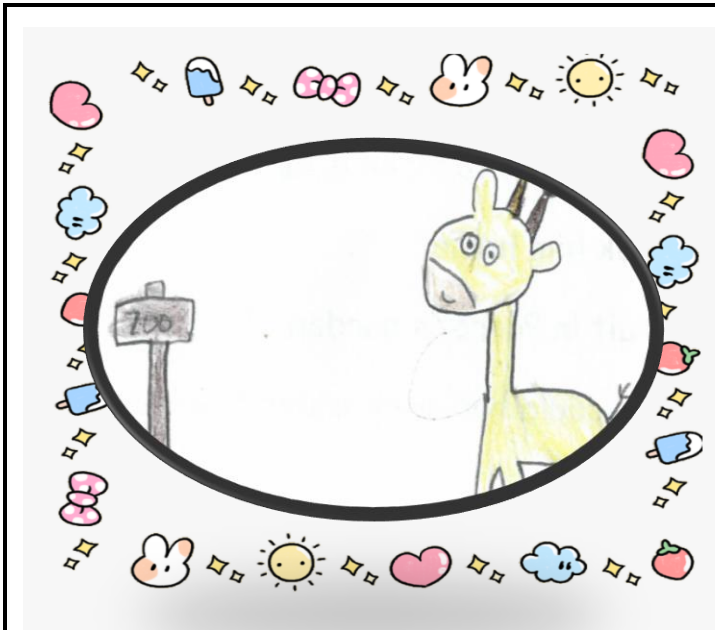

Suddenly the crocodile bit the elephant's trunk. 'Ah!' the elephant wiggled and wriggled with all his might. At last, elephant escaped but his nose was pulled long.

He was upset. He was worried that other animals would laugh at his long trunk. Instead of making fun of him, the other animals praised his nose for being useful. He was surprised.

How giraffe got its spots ?

Once there was a giraffe who lived in the zoo. He had yellow skin and a long neck.

One day, he felt tired so he slept in the cage.

Later, a painter who was painting the cage, carelessly poured the paint. The paint was on the giraffe.

Finally, he woke up and found a lot of spots on his skin. But he didn't feel angry and love it so much!