

Bill's dream

By Joanna Fan Hoi Yu 5A

Last night, Bill had a dream. He went fishing. After a while he caught a fish. He did not want to kill the fish, so he took the fish home.

Then he put the fish into the goldfish bowl. Bill fed the fish every day. He hoped his fish would grow soon.

One day, the fish suddenly turned into a snake. The snake broke the goldfish bowl. Bill was frozen in shock. He felt frightened. He shouted, 'Oh no! It is a snake!'

Then Bill ran out of his home but the snake ran faster than Bill. The snake bit him. Bill became a monster. Next he ate everyone he saw in the town. He felt scared.

At last Bill's mum said, 'Wake up!' Bill woke up. 'Oh! It's only a dream!' said Bill.

Bill's dream

One day, Bill had a terrible and weird nightmare. In his dream, he was fishing some little fishes. After an hour, the fishing pole was shaken by a fish when he was enjoying the nature views. He pulled his fishing line up instantly. He was glad to see a fish on the hook. He shouted, 'Yayyyy!' and cut the fishing line. He dropped it in the fishing bucket.

After that, he went back home excitedly. He put the fish in a goldfish bowl carefully and fed some delicious fish food to it. He promised himself to take care of it like how his mother took care of him.

The next moment, the fish turned into a snake. It was a bolt from the blue. The snake broke the goldfish bowl with its giant body. The snake jumped at him and tried to attack him. Fortunately, Bill was a quick-witted person who dodged as fast as lightning.

Lastly, Bill heard his sister shouting, 'Happy birthday!' He woke up immediately and asked, 'What happened?' His sister replied, 'Today is your birthday!' Bill was frozen and his heavy weight was gone. He wiped his sweats joyfully.
