My Dream Job

Hi guys! Today I'll have a presentation of my dream job.

I want to be a psychologist when I grow up because I think psychologists have mind reading.

It's really cool! If I become a psychologist, I'll identify and diagnose mental, behavioural or emotional disorders. Psychologists need to be hard-working so that they can read many books about mental illnesses. They need to be smart, too. They need to find out all mental illnesses. They need to be sensitive and smart so that they can know what the people are thinking. I think this job is not suitable for me because I am careless and I am not smart. But I'll read a lot from the websites, books and watch videos on psychological knowledge.

I hope I can be a psychologist when I grow up. ☺

They need to practise how to make different dishes so that they can serve many kinds of dishes to customers. They need to be smart too. If I become a wild animal vet, I will go to Canada to cure wild animals for sure. You might ask why I need to actually go to Canada. The motivation of it is because in Canada, there are many farms and parks. (P.S. I DON'T want to be a farmer!) The farms and parks are near to the sea and mountains, they are the perfect places to heal animals there. The farms and parks are built by a charitable wildlife rehabilitation and education centre, named Hope for Wildlife, I can feed the sick and injured animals, treat the sick and injured animals and etc. This will gonna be so much fun!
