

Grace is missing in the park

By Haggai Fung Shing Yip 3C

On Sunday, Grandma and Grace want to go to the park. Grace says, 'Grandma, I want to play on the swing.' Grace feels excited. Then she plays on the swing.

After five minutes, Grandma meets a friend. They are talking happily. Grace is also playing happily on the swing but Grandma doesn't look after Grace.

After Grandma talks with her friend, she turns her head back to look for Grace but she can't see Grace. She feels scared.

Fortunately, when Grandma goes to another park, she finds Grace chatting with her friend. Grandma says, 'Grace, I finally find you!' Grandma rushes off to hug Grace. They feel glad.

(108 words)

Grace is missing in the park

By Ellis Ip Shun Hei 3C

On Saturday, Grace and Grandma go to the park. Grace says, 'There's a swing and I want to play on it.' Grandma says, 'OK! You can play on the swing.' Grace feels excited.

While Grace is playing on the swing, Grandma meets one of her friends. They are laughing and talking. They feel happy. After five minutes, Grandma wants to go home. However, she can't see Grace on the swing, so she looks for Grace and feels scared.

Grandma tries to find Grace everywhere, but she can't find her. So Grandma calls 999. Then the police come and help her to find her granddaughter. Then they find Grace behind the bushes and she is looking at a rare bird. They feel happy. At last Grandma thanks the police for helping her to find Grace.

(134 words)

Grace is missing in the park

By Alvin Kwok Yik Yin 3C

Today is Sunday. Grandma and Grace go to the park. Grace wants to play on the swing. She feels excited.

When Grace is playing on the swing, Grandma meets a friend and they are talking. They feel very happy too.

After five minutes, Grandma wants to go home with Grace, but she cannot find Grace. She feels very scared.

Grandma looks for Grace immediately. At the same time, Grandma meets a policeman who helps to find Grace. At last, they find Grace on the slide. Grandma feels very angry, because Grace goes there alone. However, Grace feels happy.

(98 words)

Name : Eason Lau Wai Tak

Class : 3A

Grace is missing in the park

One day, Grandma and Grace go to Beautiful Park because Grace wants to play on the swing. She asks, 'Grandma, can I play on the swing?' Grandma replies, 'Yes, Go and play!' Grace feels excited and great.

Then Grandma meets her friend. They are talking together. They feel happy. After five minutes, Grandma looks for Grace. She can't see Grace. She feels scared.

Then Grandma walks around the playground. But she can't see Grace. She is sad. Then she goes home. 'Oh dear! Where are you going?' Grandma shouts. 'Today is your birthday. I go to the cake shop to buy your present.' Grace replies. Grandma feels excited and moved. At last, Grandma says, 'Thank you, Grace! It is my best birthday. This is my favourite strawberry cake!' Grandma gives Grace a big hug.

Name : Evan Pun Ho Ming

Class : 3A

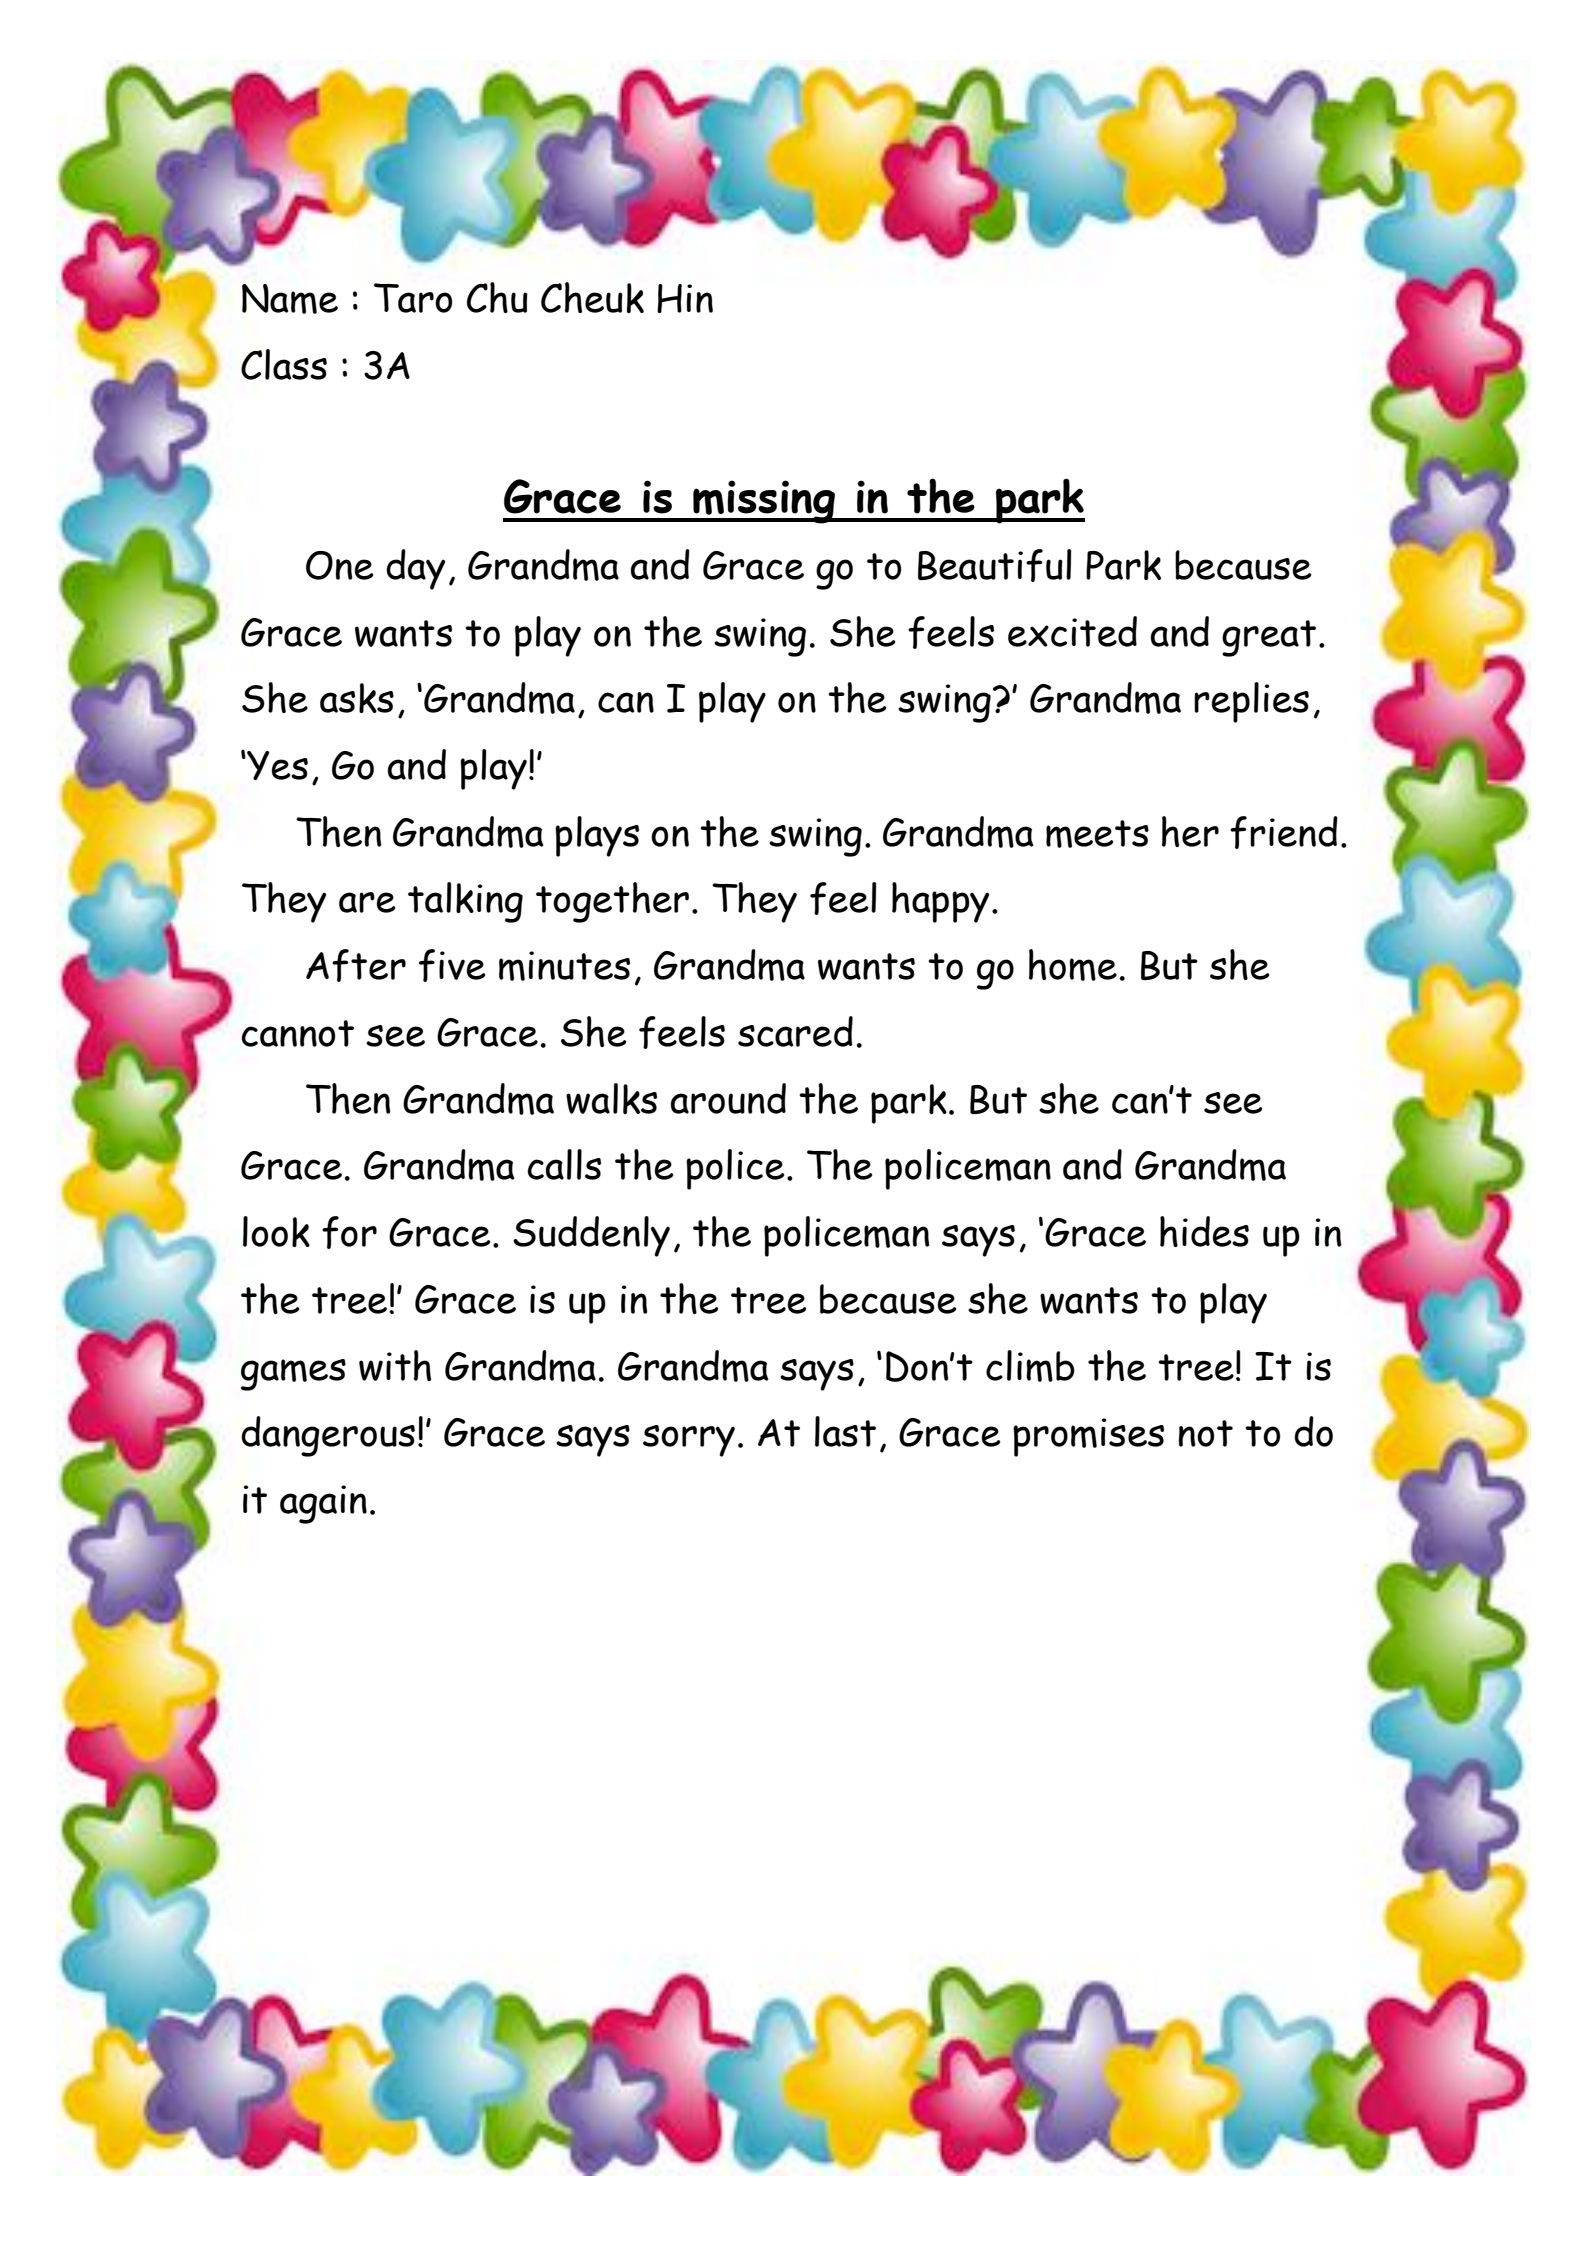

Grace is missing in the park

One day, Grandma and Grace go to Happy Park. Grace wants to play on the swing. She feels excited and says, 'Hurray! I like playing on the swing!'

Then Grace plays on the slide. Later, Grandma meets her best friend, Lala. They are talking and laughing together. They feel very happy.

After five minutes, Grandma wants to go home with Grace. However Grandma can't see Grace on the swing. Grandma feels scared.

At the same time, Grace is in other playground. She is playing on the slide. Grandma and her friend walk everywhere to look for Grace. At last, Grandma's friend sees Grace on the slide and tells Grandma. 'Naughty girl!' shouts Grandma. Then, Grace hugs Grandma and says, 'Sorry! Grandma.' After that Grandma feels happy again.

Name : Taro Chu Cheuk Hin

Class : 3A

Grace is missing in the park

One day, Grandma and Grace go to Beautiful Park because Grace wants to play on the swing. She feels excited and great. She asks, 'Grandma, can I play on the swing?' Grandma replies, 'Yes, Go and play!'

Then Grandma plays on the swing. Grandma meets her friend. They are talking together. They feel happy.

After five minutes, Grandma wants to go home. But she cannot see Grace. She feels scared.

Then Grandma walks around the park. But she can't see Grace. Grandma calls the police. The policeman and Grandma look for Grace. Suddenly, the policeman says, 'Grace hides up in the tree!' Grace is up in the tree because she wants to play games with Grandma. Grandma says, 'Don't climb the tree! It is dangerous!' Grace says sorry. At last, Grace promises not to do it again.