

In the Country Park

Today Sam and I went to the country park. The weather was fine. We had a picnic in the afternoon. We ate some ham and cheese sandwiches and drank some apple juice. It was a joyful day.

After lunch, we played in the park. We saw a tall apple tree on the grass. “The apples are yummy and juicy,” I said. I climbed on the tree because I wanted to pick some to eat. “Oh! I find a beehive in the tree,” I shouted excitedly. I saw there were many bees. They were flying around and protecting their home bravely.

I was scared. I jumped onto the ground quickly and we ran away. The bees were angry. They chased Sam and I. I ran fast but Sam ran too slow. “Help me!” screamed Sam. Finally, I called the park keeper to help Sam. At last, he was safe. It was an unforgettable day. We’ve learnt that we shouldn’t climb on the trees in the countryside.

By Tammy Ng